Hengkong, 23m August, 1904. GENERAL RUMOUR has now almost if not entirely annihilated the Japanese army which has in hand the task of capturing Port Arthur. Early is the present mouth General Stoesser, theRussian Commander, estimated his enemy to number 70,000. Since then General Russour notified us that in one battle the Japanese lost 30,000 in another 14,000; and that there were "enormous losses" in the other attacks which have been made on the garrison, of which we have lost ount. General Russour has certainly killed a number equalling if not exceeding the 70,000 men which General STOESSEL estimated the attacking force to number. The Japanese Government has not taken the trouble to publicly contradict these about and impossible statements, because itappears to be generally known in Japan that there is no foundation in fact for them. There prevails in the Press that tone of quid confidence in victory which was so markely apparent in the official report regarding the tendering of advice to the Russian General to surrender the fortress. If that magnanimous suggestion emanated from the shadowy remnant of a besieging arm, which is all the Russians have allowed, telegraphically, to exist, then we can harlly avoid some comparison of Japanese and Russian "cheek."

But undoubtedly the lamane proposal was made, not in a spirit of over-confidence or bravado, but with a calm assurance, based on the position actually attaine !, of ultimate conquest. All the news coming from the south of the Kwangtung Peninsula bears out the unprejudiced opinion that the enpture of Port Arthur is within measurable distance. The very delay of the final asanult, which has been viewed by some people as indication that Japan was finding it a harder nut to crack than they expected, confirms us in the idea that these "enormous losses" are Russian exaggerations, to which wish was the father. Throughout, the brave face that Japan has presented to the world, the sang froid her nationals have assumed, has misled many outsiders into thinking that the military forces of the Mikado were subject to megalomania; that they were, in homely, phrase, too cock-sure. Nothing of the kind. Those who were in Tokyo during the flual preparations, and had opportunities of conersing with the higher class soldiers and officers, could not help noticing that beneath the external tone of confidence was n' very real and with difficulty concealed realization of the immensity of the task about to be BLEND undertaken. Like soldiers of other nationalities, the Japanese rank and file would have fretred in inaction, and they have had their appetite for fighting whetted, and their enthusiasm maintained by being unleashed in sundry skirmishings and necessary preliminary operations. But no great numbers have been risked on a premature assent that might not achieve all that is hoped for. A deliberate and careful plan of attack is undoubtedly being followed with scrapulous adherence to details arranged. The Japanese forces now environing Port Arthur are being worked like the milling machinery of the gods. They more slowly, but the garrison of Port Arthur will be ground exceeding small The temptation to prophesy has to be resisted strenuously; otherwise we should be inclined to promise some important news in the course of the present week.

Turning to the recent inval operations, a Russian who took part in the flight of the fleet from Port Athur has outlined for our Shaughai contemporary the order of the fight. With five torpedo craft on the left, as they emerged, and six on the right, the nine Russian ships sailed straight out for the open sea. The Novik, since sunk, was trying to join them, approaching from the Corea bay on their left. From the south east, five Japanese ships and a flotilla of torpedo-boats closed in on their left, the bigger ships circling to the south to head them off. On their right was another squad of torpedo craft, and these, with other cruisers, drew up to join the rest in checking their escape. The two squadrons converged about eleven o'clock, meeting the Russian ships at the same time at a point about forty miles south-west by south of Port Arthur. The Bayan struck a stray mine and put back into harbour before that. The Tsarevitch had her rudder damaged early on, and began to move in circles. As the others were not informed of this, and had orders to follow her, the whole Russian fleet began waltzing, a mancenvre that must have somewhat amazed the Japanese. The result is already known. Five damaged ships managed to regain the shelter of the forts; the rest are being hounded down by the Japanese, while the few that have sought sanctuary in neutral ports are either disarming, or screwing up courage to once more

In the far north, everything points to another big battle, unless Kuropatkin once more folds up his tents like the Arabs, and silently steals away. Some time must yet elapse before a combined attack can be made upon him at Harbin, if, as is far from unlikely, he elects to fall back so far north.

Viceroy Hsi Liang has sent the prefect of Chengtu with two battalions of troops to put down the insurrection.

LONLON, 20th August. The papers publish an interview with Sir Thomas Lipton implying that a fourth challenge for the America Cup will be despatched.

The Japanese Minister requests that the concession given to a Corean company to build branch lines on the Seoul-Fesan railway from Mokpo and Kunsan, be withdrawn, says the 21st inst. Korea Daily News, on the grounds of their lack of experience and capital for the carrying out of such a large project.

The Koren Daily News learns that Mr. Kwon Cheong-hyon, Councillor of State, has proposed that the Corean Government shall obtain a loan from Japan of 10,000,000 yen for a term of 30 years, interest at 5 per cent, per annum. The money is required for the proposed establishment of a national bank and also to cover the expenses of the Imperial Household and Foreign Office.

General Fu. commanding the Ichang Mili tary Circuit of Hupeh province, has been denounced by Viceroy Chang Chih-tung on the charge of incapability, luziness, and inability to keep proper discipline amongst his troops. The General is also said to be respon sible in part for the recent nurder of the Roman Catholic missionaries and converts at Shihnan, and pending the Imperial Rescript be has had his efficial button removed at the order of Chang Chih-tung.

In view of the question as to England's position at Wei-hai-wai in the event of Japan taking Port Arthur, it may be useful to state that the actual words of the Convention are that great Britain leases Wei-hai-wei and the adjacent waters " for so long a period as Port Arthur shall remain in the occupation of Russia." It was probably due to a rooted belief in the inevit ability of the struggle now proceeding that the British Government went back on its original intention to strongly fortify Wei-hai-wei, and decided to make it a sanitarium for the Fleet.

"It only needed one to be for a few moments among the hundreds of men who crowded the decks to be struck with the extraordinary spirit o cheerfulness and confidence that was apparent on every side, and this too, when, considering the circumstances, it would not have been strange if a feeling of depression and gloom had prevailed." The Shanghai journalist who wrote the foregoing, after a visit to the Russian craiser Ashold; does not seem to have thought of the possibility that these salars realised they had much to be thankful for. The Askold was dressed rainbow fashion all day on August 14th in honour of the birth of the Tsur's son.

The Chinese naval commander at Chefoo has made a statement exonerating the Russian refugees from illegality, and saddling the blame on the Japanese. In part, he says :-

"The Chinese Admiral intended to enforce his order, but was deceived by the lying statement of the second torperlo-boat. He was also afraid that if he fired unnecessarily he might injure merchant shipping. Undoubtedly the Japanese were fully cognisant of the dismantling of the vessel, because the Admiral advised them twice early in the evening, and also advised the Jupanese Consul several times about the matter. The dismantling was completed, and the guns placed in my launch at half-past 4 o'clock on the preceding afternoon. Unquestionably the Japanese have committed a grave error."

THE CHEFOO INCIDENT.

The Japanese Consul kindly supplied us with the text of the following telegram, received by him yesterday from Baron Komura :-

Following is a statement of the attitude we take regarding the Chefoo incident.

The status of China in the present struggle is wholly unique. Nearly all military operations are being carried on within her borders and she is no party in the present conflict. Nevertheless, her territories are partly belligerent and partly neutral. That condition of things, in view of international law, is unomalous and contradictory. In this case, it is created of special understanding to which the belligerents have given their adhesion. With a view of limiting the area of hostilities in the interest of foreign intercourse and the general tranquillity of China, the Japanese Government have engaged to respect the neutrality of China outside of regions actually doubted whether the squadron will sail at involved by the war. Provided Russia made a similar engagement and carried it out in good faith the Japanese Government considered they were precluded by engagement from occupying or making use, for warlike purposes, of any of the territory or ports of China outside the zone which made the theatre of war, because it seemed to them that any such occupation and use of neutral Chinese territory or ports by Tsingtao yesterday consisted of four cruisers Russian forces would give effect to the proviso of the Japanese engagement, and justify her in considering the territory or ports so occupied as belligerent. In other words, the Japanese Government hold China's neutrality imperfect, and were away to watch developments at Shangand applicable only to places not occupied by hai). the armed forces of either belligerent, and that Russia cannot escape the consequence of unsuccessful war by moving her army and navy into those portions of China which, by arrangement, are made conditionally neutral.

The Riesitchiai escaped from Port Arthur and sought, in Chefoo, an asylum from attack which her home port had ceased to afford her. In taking that step she was guilty of a breach of the neutrality of China as established by agreement between the belligerents, and Japan Chefoo as belligerent so far as the incident in question is concerned. With the termination of the incident the neutrality of the port is

The action taken by Japan in Chefoe was a direct natural consequence of Russia's disregard for her engagement, but it is not alone in this matter nor alone in Chefoo that Russia has flagrantly violated China's neutrality and ignored her own engagement.

Shortly after the investment and isolation of Port Arthur a system of wireless telegraphy was installed between the belenguered fortress and the Russian Consulate at Chefco.

This system is still in operation not withstanding the repeated protest of the Japanese

At Shanghai, at the beginning of the war, the Russian gunboat Mandjour, in defiance of China's neutrality, remained at the port weeks after receiving notice to leave from the Chinese authorities. She, finally, after long negotiations, consented to disarmament.

Again, the Russian cruiser Askold and the destroyer Grosovoi have now been at Shanghai more than a week and refuse to leave or disarm, The Japanese government have no intention of disregarding the neutrality of China so long as it is respected by Russia; but they cannot consent that Russian warships, as the result of broken engagement and violated neutrality, shall, unchallenged, find in the harbours of China safe | 3 miles north of Takushan fell on a Russian refuge from capture or destruction.

The statements of the commander of the Riesitelini that his ship disarmed upon arrival at Chefoo is untrue. The vessel was fully armed and manned when she was visited by Lioutenant Terashima in the early morning of the 13th instant, but, in any event, disamnament would not fulfil the requirements of China's neutrality regulations, and it was for China, not Russia, to decide whether the alternative of disarmament was acceptable. It has been suggosted in many quarters that the present case may be compared with the case of Florida among others, but the Japanese Government draw a clear distinction between the two events. The neutrality of Brazil was perfectly unconditional, and the port of Bahia a long distance from the seat of war; whereas the neutrality of China is imperfect and conditional and the port of Chefoo in close proximity to the zone of military who took part in the Chefoo incident, agree that the Riesitelini was the aggressor first to - commence hostilities which resulted in her capture. That fact would, the Japanese Government believe, deprive Russis of any grounds for complaint which she might possess if the lawfulness of the capture were otherwise.

In this respect, the present case resembles the cases of the American privateer General Armstrong and the British ship Anne.

The case of the Riesitelini, though in itself of triff a r moment, involves a principle of paramount importance. Experience has shown that China will take no adequate steps to enforce her neutrality laws. If in these circumstances the Riesitetini could make Chefoo a harbour of refuge then the great ships of Russia might do the same, and nothing would prevent those ships issuing from their retreat to attack Japan. The necessity for guarding against such an eventuality is too commanding and too overwhelming to permit of the Riesitelini case standing as a precedent.

The incident will in no way affect foreign commerce or disturb the general situation in China. It merely serves as a notice to Russia that she must keep engagements in the future.

> (Ostusiatische Lloyd.) THE NAVAL FIGHTING.

TSINGTAO, 13th August. Our editor has obtained the following further particulars of the naval battle in the Gulf of Pechili on the 10th of August. Before the Russian vessels emerged from Port Arthur, several ships were sent out chained together to sweep for mines to prepare the way, and the Russian squadron then followed in single line. The flagship Czarevitch led with the Retvisan. Peresviet, Pollova, Pobieda, and Novik, and these at some distance were followed by the Sevastopol, Diana, Pallado, and Askold. There was a line of torpedo destroyers on both side of the battleships and cruisers. The Russians sighted the Japanese squadron steaming in two lines. One line consisted of the Asahi, Mikasa, Fuji, Shikishima, Nisshin, and Kasuga, and further astern were smaller cruisers. The Iwate and three smaller cruisers were to the westward and three other ships following at some distance. The hostile fleets steamed parallel another about seven kilometres Czarevitch turned eastward as the Japanese this they made an attempt to head her off. The manœuvre was thrice repeated and then both fleets opened fire at a range of about four miles. During the whole of the time the smaller Japanese vessels were strewing fleating mines, adjourned until to-day at 10.15 a.m.

which however were easily avoided by the Russians. The firing lasted about one hour and a half, and there was then a cessation on both sides, only to be resumed a little later. At this stage the Czarevitch received a shot in the conning tower which damaged the steering goar and rendered the ship unmanageable. The Retvisan, seeing the condition of the flugship, steamed straight for the Japanese ships and engaged them at a range of only eight hundred metres, using both broadside batteries, and enabled the other vessels to regain their formation. The Retvison, although surrounded by the Japanese, managed to break through and rejoin the others, and Admiral Uchtomski. soning the Czarevitch disabled, took over the command and signalled to the fleet once again to break through to Vladivostock. The last the Czarevitch saw was that the Peresvict had lost her fighting tops and had a heavy list. The Gzurevitch then made for the Shantung coast, lost touch with the fleet, and had the further engagement already reported.

HEAVY FIRING AT PORT ARTHUR.

CHEFOO, 16th August. The German steamer Decima, just arrived from Newchwang, reports :--

This morning heavy attacks were made on Port Arthur from both land and sea sides. Five big Japanese men of war took part in the attack.

SUPREME COURT.

Monday, 22nd August.

IN SUMMARY JURISDICTION.

BEFORE HIS HONOUR T. SERCOMBE SMITH. (PUISNE JUDGE).

A CHINESE LIBEL ACTION. Chan Lai Ng, trader, 96, Connaught Road West, sued Chan Po Sun, trader, 274, Des Voux Road West, for $1,000 damages for alleged libel. Mr. E. H. Sharp K.C. (instructed by Mr. Looker, of Messrs, Deacon, Looker and Deacon, solicitors), appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. J. Hastings, solicitor, for the defendant Mr. Sharp in opening the case read the statement of claim; which was to the effect that plaintiff formerly owned one $500. share in the Man Fung firm, 118, Connaught Road West, in the name of I Yik Tong. After the naval battle on the 10th, four large Defendant falsely and maliciously published an men-of-war returned to Port Arthur, two with advertisement in the Canton Times newspaper "It is notified that the Man Fung rice shop at Saiyingpun has been established since the K. Hoi year of Kwong Sui and I Chan Po San and It is reported that the big oil godown at Port my clausman Chan Lai Ng. using the name of I Yik Tong, own a share of 8500 in the has made a little surplus profit, and unexpectedly Chan Lai Ng cherishes an evil mind and actually treats the whole of the partnership agreement and the share and interest of the capital of the Man Fung as his own." Defendant published in a second advertisement in the same newspaper certain other words concerning plaintiff, of which the literal translation was as follows: - " I respectfully and clearly state the matter from the beginning to the end of the swallowing up of the Man Fung rice shop by Chan Lai Ng . . . Lai Ng finding that the business of the Man Fung has been profitable It is rumoured that the Rossia was sunk on for years continuously suddenly becomes evilminded and desires to swallow up my, Chan Po San's, share. . . . The partnership agreement of the Man Fung had all along been kept by Lai Ng himself, and therefore relying on this he swallows it up." Defendant in fact had not and never had any interest in this share in the Man Fung. The advertisements meant and were so understood by those who read them, that plaintiff was guilty of dishonest conduct respecting the Man Fung, and that he fraudulently tried to acquire for himself the said business or the said share, and that he employed deceitful means to that end. Plaintiff had in consequence suffered much annoyance, and had been injured in his credit and reputation. He claimed $1,000 damages.

Defendant in his statement of defence denied that plaintiff ever owned a $500 share in the Man Fung in the name of I Yik Tong, or that that was the hong name of the plaintiff, and said that the $500 share in the business in the name of Chan I Yik Tong was owned in equal shares by the plaintiff and defendant. Defendant admitted that he published the advertisement referred to for the purpose of notifying to all persons interested that the plaintiff did not own the whole of the $500 share and that defendant owned one-half of it; but he denied that the words were false or malicious. He did not admit that the translation was literal, and denied that they meant or were understood by those who read them to mean that plaintiff was guilty of dishonest conduct respection? the Man Fung or that he fraudulently tried to acquire for himself the business or the share therein or that he employed deceitful means to that end. The said words in their ordinary and natural meaning were true in substance and fact. The advertisement was inserted in answer to one inserted by plaintiff in the same paper on 8th April in which plaintiff stated that he was the I Yik Tong and that the share of $500 in the business in that name had nothing to do with any other person, and that the defendant in his advertisement made a false declaration that he owned a share in the I Yik Tong, and that plaintiff did not know to whom the defendant paid the share money, and that defendant's second advertisement was privileged. Plaintiff had suffered no injury to his credit or reputation by the Corp. McEwen, R.E.

words of the advertisement. Evidence was led, and the case was afterwards

HONGKONG POLO CLUB

The Hongkong Polo Club continues to practice, arranging scratch matches. On Saturday afternoon H.E. Sir Matthew Nathan, the Governor, joined in one game on Mr. F. H, May's brown mare Nora. He also rode his two chestnut ponies, lately arrived from Calcutta, and seemed very pleased with them. Up to date the players do not seem to have got into the swing of the game; perhaps, too, the horses require a little more schooling. Besides His Excellency, those who took part in the play on Saturday were Messrs. May, Johnstone, Gresson, Cruickshank, Moxon, Gedge, Hastings, Vajor Strickland and Capt. Nugent. With regard to Saturday's play a seasoned old gentleman from India expressed the opinion that he had never seen such poor sport in this direction before, though he admitted that some of the players know how to swing the sticks. He expressed an opinion that until the ponies were evenly matched there would never be good polo play at Hongkong. Either all Chinese ponies should be used, or all walers Arabs and country breds. With three or four little Chinese ponies dodging about the field in their peculiar manner, colliding with the others. the game would always be a fiasco.

FEELING AT SHANGHAL

Shanghai preserved remarkable caloness in face of the threatened irruption of a Japanese squadron, which according to some wild stories put in circulation, was to drag the Askold out of dock and forcibly tow her off & la Riesitelini-or worse. There is a possibility that a Japanese cruiser may put into Woosing, as the Akilsushima did on an earlier occasion, to exercise a watch over the still armed and fast-repairing Askold, and incidentally to put a little stiffening into the Chinese anthorities in enforcing their neutrality. Chima unfortunately is more easily bluffed by Mr. Lessar and his colleagues than the Tsingtao authorities, and takes a longer time to announce her decision, but though the word is anspoken as yet, it can hardly differ in the end from that which has condemned the Czurevitch to lie up quietly at Tsingtao till the end of the war .--N.-C. #### RUSSIAN CRUISERS IN EUROPEAN WATERS.

We shall next hear, comments the N.-C Daily News, of these obtrusive vessels being stationed off the mouths of the Thames and the Scheldt, and overhauling every vessel that leaves London or Antwerp for the East The situation is becoming intolerable, and the British people are not likely to endure very long seeing their trade transferred from British to German bottoms in time of peace. Russia can hardly wish to see our alliance with Japan converted from passivity to activity, but her naval department seems to be bent on this. At the outbreak of the war, all the Great Powers. Russia included, expressed their firm desire to limit its area to Japan. Cores, and Manchuria. Russia is now carrying the war into European waters, and she will have to account for her breach of the understanding to which she was

The writer did not mean that injudicious or over-eating caused insanity, but he undoubtedly tion, Headaches, and kindred ailments, 'which affect the brain and cause irritability, nervousness and inability to concentrate the mind upon properly solve the vexed question.

Efforvescent Salt: It makes an insane stomach sand, it makes a disordered stomach healthy, it. meeting. problem, a bright eye; an elastic step, and reserved energy for an emergency.

Without question, Abbey's Salt is the remedy to use. Its superiority to other salines is like that of the present express train over the travelling coach of a century ago; it is the only up-to-date, 20th century saline in existence. If you try a bottle you will demonstrate to your. own satisfaction the truth of this assertion.

Remember, Abbey's Salt will make the stomach sane, the bowels regular, and the blood pure. As a pleasant, cooling, invigorating drink it is unsurpassed. When in need be sure to buy Abbey's Salt.

The SECRETARY read the notice calling the drives away those diseases caused by the The CHAIRMAN said-fleutlemen .-- As the wise to pay such large dividends. I am of irregularity of the action of the stomach; and all report and statement of accounts have been in course well aware that the Dock Company is in this means a clear brain to grapple with life's your hands for some time. I will, with your a very strong position, that its property is permission, following aurausual custom, take them as read. The net profit for the half-year ended 30th June, 1904, amounted to $539,446.98 to which must be added the sum of $425,340,69 brought forward from last account, and, after deducting directors' and auditors' fers, there remains for appropriation $954,037.67 as compared with $817,940,04 for the previous halfyear. The increase, however, in earnings is more apparent than real for I must not forget to mention that it includes the profit on the sale of the steam-tag Fame, some thirty thousand dollars on the book while. But though the actual earnings have been somewhat less, they have, I consider, been very satisfactory considering the circumstances. allude to the falling-off in the tornuze docked owing to the Russo-Japanese war. There was a slight increase in the first three months compared with the same period in 1903, but in the latter three months of the half-year there was a decline of some 30,000 tons, a decline we must expect to continue more or less. I fear, so long as the war lasts. Out of the sun available for appropriation the Board propose. with your concurrence, to pay, a dividend of 12 per cent, and a bons of, 4 per cent, on capital, absorbing altogether $400,000; write $35,937.85 from the value of the Kowloon Docks, $1,890.09 from that of the Cosmopolitan Docks, and S10,738 from floating plant, and to carry forward the balance of 8505, 471.73 to new account. The directors trust these pronosals will meet with the approval of the shareholders. Turning to capital account, it will be remarked that during the period under review the value of material on hand has increased some $220,000. This, I may explain is accounted for by the bolk of the material for the new Yangtsze river steamer and the surveying vessel for the Philippine Government in course of construction being included in the stock. The contract made with the Admiralty in December last for a thorough refit of H.M.S. Glory was successfully completed within the contract time, to the satisfaction of Navat authorities. The reconstruction of the old muchine shop and its adoptation for a central power station is now complete, and the engines there installed drive all thomachines and cranes in the engine works, while the No. I Dock is lighted from the same source, and this electric light is now being used at night to facilitate the repairs to H.M.S. Leviathon. Further considerable extensions of power and lighting are proceeding. This installation has been successfully offected without any stoppage of business, and it is confidently expected that as the electric drive is further extended economies in coal and water and wear and tear will become more and more apparent. With regard to shipbuilding, the provision of improvements in the handling and transport of materials is under consideration. and in the near future the erection of a permanent shed or sheds in lieu of the inflammable and short-lived matsheds hitherto in use will no doubt follow. As already mentioned. the steam-tug Fame has been disposed of at a price showing a good profit. It has since been decided to replace her by a smaller vessel with modern machinery to work with the Robert Cooke, as an increasing number of vessels require to be towed by two turs, apart from which fact she can alwayshe usefully employed. The dredger Canton River continues to find employment from time to time, as the accounts will show. A block of oldhouses abreast of the power house and boiler shop which had long

I think, gentlemen, there is nothing more that calls for special reference, but I shall be pleased, before proposing the The ordinary half-yorly meeting of share- adoption of the report and accounts, to answer

There were no questions. The CHAIRMAN accordingly moved the adoption of the report and accounts.

Mr. R. C. WILCOX said-Mr. Chairman and gentlemen. - I think the shareholders have good reason to be satisfied both with the report presented and with the return on capital proposed-The dividend and bonus constitute a very fine rate of interest, and speaking personally I must confess I consider it larger than should be paid. having regard to the ups and downs attending an undertaking of this nature. I submit that selves with a bomis of 2 per cent, rather than the 4 per cent, proposed, and to carry a larger sum forward in a liquid state. I notice that the sum of $45,491.69 was paid for interest last halfyear, from which I infer that our debit balance at the Bank is habitually large, and it will, presumably, be augmented by another four bonus. I do not think, in view of the impending opposition and the approaching completion of the Naval Dockyard extension, that it is written down to a very low we might almost say preposterously low-figure, but none the less we should refrain from exacting the last cent of profit. I am not criticising the action of the Board, for I am aware that the large bonus recommended was due to the expressed wish of many shareholders, but I want, here and now, to utter a warning note on this policy. I have seen some startling fluctuations in the stock of this Company, which ought to be almost as steady as Time to be, in fact, what it was once mistakenly dubbet, the Consols of Hongkong. What all industrial concerns need is either an equalisation of dividends fund or a large cash balance on which they can draw in a had or disastrons year. I would like to see the shareholders exercise a little self-denial for a few years, and go to work to steadily build up such a fund. It would infallibly strengthen the position of the Company and inspire confidence in the minds of investors. But I must not tire out your patience with more advice. I congratulate the Board on the excellent report placed before us to-day, especially when we consider that these gratifying results have been achieved in a period of commercial depression and in the midst of war's alarms. I congratulate the shureholders on: the care, attention and detail given by the Chairman and Board of Directors to the con-statement of accounts. The motion was adopted unanimously. The CHAIRMAN said that there was no other business before the meeting, and he thanked the shareholders for their attendance. Dividend warrants will be ready to-day
